Aptis

Unlock your students' potential

Aptis for Teens is designed to measure the ability of students to communicate in English in real-life situations. It provides you with an external objective measure of their language skills, which you can showcase to parents with confidence.

Aptis – the English test from the British Council

Aptis is the accurate, flexible and reliable English test you can trust. It is developed by the British Council's assessment experts to focus on your needs. Aptis provides you with a valid and quick evaluation of the English skills in your school mapped to the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR).

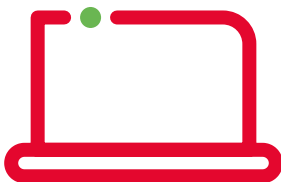

Aptis for Teens

Aptis for Teens is a variant of Aptis which is targeted at 13- to 17-year-olds. It has been adapted to reflect the activities and scenarios that occur in a teenager's everyday life like social media, homework, school events and sports.

In this way, Aptis for Teens allows students to focus purely on their English skills as topics are familiar to them. This modern approach to testing allows students to fully demonstrate their English knowledge.

Aptis for Teens can be integrated into current education systems in any type of school or used as an assessment tool in large-scale education reforms.

Aptis

Unlock your students' potential

With Aptis for Teens, you can:

- place students in the right courses
- assess readiness for taking high-stakes certificated exams
- identify strengths and weaknesses to inform teaching
- evaluate learning programmes
- test students' progress over extended periods of study.

Accurate and reliable results

Aptis for Teens tests all four language skills (listening, speaking, reading and writing) and gives you accurate results mapped to the CEFR. The speaking and writing parts are marked objectively within 48 hours by our team of trained examiners under strict standards.

Each student will receive a score on a numerical scale (0–50) and a CEFR level (A1–C) for each skill they take. This will show their full profile of language proficiency. You can compare individual and group results to identify strengths and weaknesses. This allows you to optimise your English teaching programmes.

Flexible and efficient testing

With Aptis for Teens you control the time, date and place of testing. It is a computer-delivered test which can be set up at your school at a date and time of your choice. You can administer the test internally or outsource it to our teams, freeing up your staff's time and ensuring high test security standards. It can be easily integrated into your current system without having to change the teaching methodology.

With Aptis you can also choose which language skills to test depending on your needs. This flexibility allows you to optimise the time and resources required for English language testing in your school and get meaningful results.

We can make adjustments to the test for candidates with physical or cognitive disabilities and visual or hearing impairments.

A trusted assessment solution

Designed by the British Council's assessment experts and backed by extensive research, Aptis is based on more than 80 years' experience in teaching and testing English around the world. It is trusted by institutions in 85 countries and taken by over 1.2 million people worldwide.

We have a comprehensive research agenda and ongoing control and monitoring standards to ensure the reliability and accuracy of the Aptis scores. All questions in the test are extensively trialled and only those which meet the requirements are included in live tests.

All research and technical information about the test design and specifications, including validation studies by independent researchers, are freely available on our website.

The background is a blurred outdoor setting with green foliage and a white car. A white text box with rounded corners is overlaid on the image, containing text in green. A small red horizontal line is positioned above the text box.

Aptis for Teens has been adapted to reflect the activities and scenarios that occur in a teenager's everyday life like social media, homework, school events and sports.
