Aptis

Forward thinking English testing

Aptis is trusted by governments and organisations in more than 85 countries for validating and raising the standards of English. It has been taken by more than 1.2 million people worldwide.

Aptis – the English test from the British Council

Developed by the British Council's assessment experts in language testing, Aptis is designed to evaluate the ability of candidates to communicate in English. It provides reliable results mapped to the Common European Framework of Reference (CEFR) to enable better decision making about your language training, benchmarking or selection processes.

With Aptis you can:

- assess English language skills of employees, teachers and students and benchmark them to an international standard (CEFR)
- get an accurate assessment of individuals who need to meet a certain English language level requirement
- identify language training needs
- recruit and promote the right talent
- ensure readiness of students to study in English-taught programmes
- ensure reliable admissions and exit processes
- identify strengths and weaknesses to inform training programmes and measure their success.

With Aptis you decide when, where and which skills to test.

Flexible, secure and efficient testing

Aptis is a computer-delivered test which can be used to assess large groups of candidates in multiple locations regardless of their skill level. You can run the whole process independently in your organisation or you can leave this to our expert team and free up your time.

With Aptis we can offer secure testing – either face-to-face or remotely by using AI-powered remote supervision.

Aptis shows the full language profile of your candidates in all four skills – reading, listening, speaking and writing, all mapped to the CEFR.

You can choose which language skills to test, depending on your needs. Each Aptis test includes a mandatory grammar and vocabulary module.

We can make adjustments to the test for candidates with physical or cognitive disabilities and visual or hearing impairments.

Accurate and reliable results

Aptis tests candidates' skills to communicate in English in real-life situations, giving you a reliable measure of their language abilities.

The Aptis speaking and writing parts are marked objectively within 48 hours by our team of trained examiners under strict standards.

The reading, listening, grammar and vocabulary components are marked automatically within the system.

Results are provided in individual and group reports mapped to the CEFR for each skill. This gives you a full overview of the language profile of each candidate, their strengths and weaknesses, along with their ranking among others.

This way of reporting allows you to analyse their performance and evaluate the success of your projects.

A trusted assessment solution

Aptis is designed by the British Council's assessment experts and backed by extensive research.

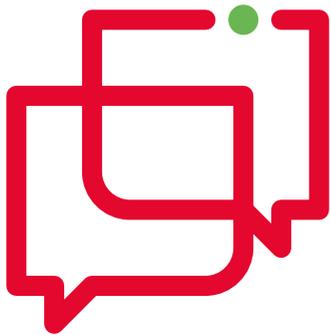

We have a comprehensive research agenda and ongoing control and monitoring standards to ensure the reliability and accuracy of the Aptis scores. All questions in the test are extensively trialled and only those which meet the requirements are included in live tests.

The Aptis test is also validated in studies by independent researchers. All technical documentation is freely available on our website.
